

Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) Expansion in Snohomish County Swift Orange Line

Community Transit's Swift Blue and Green lines carry the highest number of bus riders in Snohomish County. This bus rapid transit (BRT) service was first launched in 2009 to provide fast and frequent transit options along major residential and commercial corridors. Construction is now underway on Swift Orange Line, which will connect to light rail in 2024.

Swift Orange Line | Opening in 2024

Swift Orange Line service will make travel quick and easy throughout the Puget Sound region. It will connect south Snohomish County to the regional light rail network at Lynnwood City Center Station.

The 11-mile Orange Line corridor will serve McCollum Park, Mill Creek Town Center, Alderwood Mall, and Edmonds College, while connecting Swift Blue and Green lines, and light rail.

Features include:

- New transit center at Edmonds College.
- Redesigned transit center at McCollum Park Park & Ride.
- Nineteen platform stations with rain shelters, improved lighting, real-time signage, and additional seating.
- Road and technology improvements that make buses faster and more reliable.

Frequent

Buses arrive every 10–12 minutes weekdays and every 15–20 minutes early mornings, evenings, and weekends.

Fast

Serves fewer locations and stops for only 10 seconds at each station. Riders pre-pay before boarding any of the three doors on Swift.

Signal Priority Technology

Swift routes feature special traffic signal technology and bypass lanes to keep buses on schedule.

Real-time Information

Digital signs at stations display real-time arrival/ departure information.

Accessible

Elevated curbs at stations make Swift accessible for wheelchairs, bikes, strollers, and carts.

Swift Future Network
